ELT Catalogue 2026

Welcome.

Making language matter.

Dear Teacher,

The way we teach and learn has always been evolving, but with the arrival of AI, the developments are coming faster. As a result, the human side of teaching and learning is becoming even more important. So, this year we've set out to help you focus on supporting every individual student in your classroom to learn English and develop the 21st century skills.

Curious to know what we have in store? Here's a brief overview of just some of the highlights coming your way in 2026.

Every learner matters

Say hello to My friend Allie, our brand-new primary course designed for inclusive classrooms. With differentiated instruction and content presented in diverse formats, it's all about helping every learner shine.

Need more ideas for supporting specific learner needs? Our new series, 50 Ways to Include, is here to provide inspiration! Based on genuine student concerns, each title focuses on a specific area – dyslexia, ADHD, autism, and the impact of trauma – and offers a pool of suggestions you can try out immediately to make learning easier and more effective for all learners.

The 4Cs: Collaboration, communication, critical thinking and creativity

Equip students with key skills for the future by putting the 4Cs at the heart of your approach. Our expanded Business Impact series brings real-world relevance, flexible modules, and a strong focus on communication and collaboration.

You'll find the 4Cs integrated in all of our courses, supplementary resources, and readers. Our Escape Readers are a great example of how all the 4Cs can be integrated at the same time as developing reading and language skills, learning about culture and considering key global issues. Take a look at these three new titles: The Irish Portal, One Day in New York and A Message from Manchester.

Sustainability matters

Following last year's release of Activities for a Greener Mindset, we continue to add more titles to help you bring the SDGs to life in your classroom.

For primary learners, Sustainable Development for the Primary Classroom offers ready-to-use activities on all 17 SDGs. And our Sustainability series of Readers for secondary learners continues to grow. The Oxford Challenge and The Power of Belfast are our two latest titles designed to open students' eyes to key global issues and encourage them to make changes.

Digital reading

We're expanding our digital reader collection! New titles like Moving to Mumbai and Auckland Treasure Scam build cultural awareness and are available as both print and digital editions.

We're now adding teacher packs for popular titles such as Brighton Rock and Roll which are now available as a Digital Teaching Plus titles on allango. Complete with project ideas, cultural background, and quizzes, they are designed to help make reading enjoyable and relevant.

Webinars and events

English for all – empowering every learner

By Michelle Worgan, Bruno Andrade, Vanessa Reilly, Lottie Galpin, Vasili Bachtsevanidis, Cheryl Pelteret, Kirstie Grainger, Vivienne Lambert

Primary ▶ CEFR Pre-A1 – A2 ▶ 6 levels

My friend Allie is a six-level primary (age 6–12) English course designed for an accessible and equitable classroom where personalized learning is encouraged. Grounded in the Universal Design for Learning (UDL) framework, it offers flexible learning pathways and empowers every learner in their individual progress.

- 8 units and 3 projects per level
- Focus and Boost pages for movement, concentration or mindfulness as needed

English for all means essential for some, and suitable for everyone!

This series is designed for the learner-centred classroom of today. The concept fosters meaningful engagement, differentiated instruction, and active learner agency. The method is fully adaptable to different educational contexts.

The core questions of learning

My friend Allie is built around the three core questions of learning – what, how, and why – fully in line with the UDL framework.

- What we learn: Information is presented in multiple ways to ensure accessibility and support diverse paths to understanding.
- How we learn: Learners are encouraged to act and express themselves in different ways, highlighting their strengths and creative potential.
- Why we learn: Varied tasks, stimuli, and learning environments foster motivation, emotional safety, and active engagement.

My friend Allie in action: Supporting learners and teachers

The concept is designed for every mind, embracing neurodiversity, and making inclusion, accessibility and flexibility part of each lesson.

- A clear learner-friendly layout supports focus and readability for all pupils.
- The inclusive concept enables truly learner-centred teaching that supports every pupil, regardless of learning profile or educational needs.
- The UDL approach also supports teachers with ready-to-use materials that require no adaptation, along with built-in support for learners with individual needs.

Pupil's Book

A clear structure and step-by-step progression make it easy to follow and build skills with confidence.

With 8 lessons and 3 project pages per level, the course offers maximum flexibility to suit any learning scenario.

The unit question connects directly to the learning situation and final task – shaping the lesson and guiding learners toward a meaningful outcome.

Each unit begins with an effective thinking or discussion routine to stimulate imagination and foster critical thinking.

Each unit opens with an authentic image to activate prior knowledge, and create meaningful connections to the focus of the unit.

4 Play with me!

How can we have fun with others?

1 Look at the photo. Where are the children?

think → pair → share

2 Look at the pictures. What do you see?

3 Look at the pictures again. Choose one and act it out.

4 SONG Listen to the song.

5 CIRCLE TIME Talk about your favourite game or activity to play in groups.

OUR LEARNING SITUATION TASK
We're going to make a game box for our class.

Engaging and relevant topics connect with learners' lives and keep them motivated and promote cooperative learning, supporting social and emotional development.

The method builds real-world communication skills by sparking curiosity through engaging materials like audios, videos and comics.

A comic strip spanning the double-page spread uses a child-friendly layout that matches children's visual habits and is optimised for horizontal whiteboard use.

All digital resources are clearly organised and easy to access on allango.

Story time

Come play with us!

1 Look at the pictures. Where are Mia and Lucas?

2 Listen and point.

3 Look at the story. Who's feeling sad? Who's having fun?

sad      having fun

4 Listen to the story again. Say or act it out.

Come play with us.

What do Mia and Lucas do at playtime?

say      or      act it out

Differentiated instructions support individual learner needs and make inclusive learning experiences possible.

Clear pictograms and multiple response options make the course easy to adapt.

Each double-page spread ends with a clear link back to the learning situation.

Designed to engage young learners and support teachers

Interdisciplinary learning through CLIL connects language and content for integrated, authentic, and practical skill development.

Global, cross-cultural settings promote intercultural awareness and communication.

Learners explore language in real-world contexts, with genuine and motivating learning situations.

Competency-based learning is a key element of the concept, with activities that promote long-term skill development through movement, interaction, and speaking.

CLIL corner

Let's play a clapping game!

Children around the world play clapping games. Usually, they sing or say a rhyme. The rhythm is very important, too!

- Do you know a clapping game? How does it go? What movements do you do?

- Listen to the rhyme. Can you say it?
Clap your hands, 1-2-3,
This is fun, play with me!
Left, right, turn around,
Clap your hands and touch the ground.

- Make up a clapping game for the rhyme. Teach your class and play together.

Our learning situation task 4

Let's make a game box for our class!

How can you have fun with others?

- What games can you all play together? Choose one.
- What do you need to play this game? Make a game box.

- GALLERY WALK Choose a box. Can you play this game? Say.
I can't play this. I can show you!
- Choose a game and play together.
- CIRCLE TIME
What did you learn in this unit?

The learning situation defines the unit's purpose and culminates in a meaningful final task that gives learners the opportunity to apply and reflect on their learning in a creative, collaborative way.

Allie is a magical creature that supports our protagonists through everyday challenges.

Practise and Pass

for the Cambridge Young Learners English Tests

By Viv Lambert and Cheryl Pelteret

Beginner – Elementary ▶ CEFR Pre-A1 – A2 ▶ 3 levels

Practise and Pass Starters, Movers, Flyers is a three-level series, which prepares children for the Cambridge Young Learners English Tests. All three levels have been designed for use in class and for test preparation at home. Each test-focused book provides a minimum of 20 hours' material.

All three titles:

- are based on the most up-to-date syllabus
- feature three sections that cover the Listening, Reading & Writing, and Speaking parts of the tests
- include additional vocabulary practice

There is a clear three-step structure which helps to familiarise pupils with both the language they will need in the test and the format of the test.

Step 1 – Prepare

- in the Prepare section, key language is introduced and revised

Step 2 – Practise

- in the Practise section, this language is practised in meaningful, fun ways

Step 3 – Pass!

- in the Pass section, this language is tested in a similar format to the Cambridge YLE Test

The books also contain fun-based hints and exam tips.

At the end of each book, there is one complete Practice Test covering the three core areas: Listening, Reading & Writing, Speaking.

YLE Practise and Pass titles:

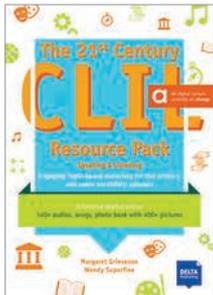

- Starters Pupil's Book
- Movers Pupil's Book
- Flyers Pupil's Book

The 21st Century CLIL Resource Pack

By Fiona Mauchline

Young Learners ▶ CEFR A1 – B1

Engaging topic-based materials for the primary and lower secondary syllabus:

- 100+ audios and many songs
- photo bank with 400+ pictures
- activity sheets for every lesson

This comprehensive 21st Century CLIL Resource Pack is designed to introduce new topics in a CLIL context using a cross-curricular approach while integrating the language and revising vocabulary or structures at the given language level.

All resources focus on talking about topics, with Speaking and Listening skills the focal point of the activities. The materials reference back to the Cambridge Young Learners examinations Starters, Movers and Flyers.

The topics covered in the 21st Century CLIL Resource Pack are intended to extend the vocabulary and communicative proficiency of primary and lower secondary learners.

Topics, Tasks and Teamwork

By Sharon Ahlquist

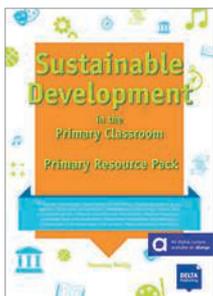

Young Learners ▶ CEFR A0 - A2

Based around 8 common CLIL topics, this book provides photocopiable resources and guidance for early stage language learners. Each topic is broken down into a series of engaging tasks for learners to work on together as a team. Communication and collaboration are at the core of the materials. The content builds on knowledge and interests learners have and focuses on outcomes and building confidence.

Sustainable Development for the Primary Classroom

By Vanessa Reilly

Young Learners ▶ CEFR A0 - A2

This photocopiable resource pack helps pre-primary, primary, and lower secondary English teachers bring the SDGs to life and helps children understand their importance from an early age. There are activities for all 17 SDGs, activities designed to raise awareness and make students see what they, as individuals, can do to make a difference. Encouraging our students to be kind to other people, to animals, and to our planet, lies at the core of this resource pack.

How does each unit work?

The opening double page...

A simple question about a specific aspect of the English-speaking world. The unit will equip you with the tools to be able to respond.

The main character of the unit who presents their city and the topic you're going to deal with.

Two activities to familiarise you with the subject and revise what you've learned.

The objectives of the unit, and above all your challenge! This is the task that you're asked to carry out, which we're sure you'll be able to do.

A video showing you the city and the topic.

The heart of the unit...

A broad variety of authentic and interesting content (texts, videos, audios, images...).

Cultural awareness: become a citizen of the world... in English, naturally!

Need help to express yourself? Use the prompts or the examples in blue.

Games, because you always learn better when you're having fun!

The essential grammar and vocabulary you need to remember.

A mini-challenge (project work or task) to get you started on the path to the final challenge.

The Culture Blog...

Simple explanations and exercises for each grammar point in the unit.

Observation questions to find links between English and other languages you know.

The mind map visualises all the vocabulary in the unit. Words are easier to memorise when they're grouped in a logical way!

Your mission! Follow the steps to successfully master your project and share the lasting result with your class, friends and family.

Follow the bloggers and read and learn about the English-speaking world. Then create your own blog or presentation.

Bloggers Digital Edition:

Digital Edition

DELTA hosts all digital coursebooks in a Learning Management System (LMS). The digital versions allow students and teachers to engage with their course material from anywhere via smartphone, tablet or personal computer – online and offline. Students can easily access all audio and video files or complete online exercises in their Workbook and get immediate feedback. Teachers can track the progress of each student, see an overview of class performance, communicate with individuals, send homework, and more.

Build up to IELTS ...

By Riccardo Chiappini, Lewis Richards

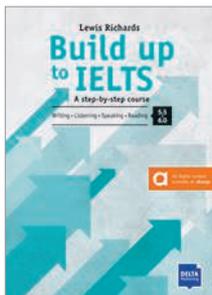

IELTS Band 5.5 – 6.0

IELTS Band 6.5 – 8.0

Build up to IELTS is a series of compact IELTS courses designed for students who are aiming to achieve a score of 5.5 to 6.0 or 6.5 to 8.0 in the Academic IELTS test. The course guides you step-by-step through the different tasks in each of the papers. It covers all four parts of the IELTS test and aims to improve the score in each section – with a strong focus on writing.

Build up to IELTS

- 10 topic-based units focusing on the most common areas of language needed for the test
- Writing sections look at the different types of Task 2 essays (Unit 1–5) and Task 1 questions in essay writing (Unit 6–10)
- Model essays are the starting point for the Writing paper and show how to organise and write a good answer with key grammar and vocabulary for each type of Writing question
- Skills focus activities offer techniques for the different types of Listening and Reading questions
- Strategies to succeed in the Speaking paper with model answers

IELTS Games and Activities

By Aida Sahutoglu

IELTS adaptable to all band scores

Focus and fun for the IELTS classroom

All three IELTS Games and Activities titles offer an engaging and results-focused range of collaborative games and activities for the IELTS preparation classroom. Each title has its own focus: the Speaking and Writing papers, topic-specific vocabulary, and grammar. All the activities and games focus on developing skills and language: lexical resources, grammatical range and accuracy, coherence and cohesion, and task achievement.

- IELTS familiarisation: activities designed to help familiarise students with what to expect in the exam
- Confidence building: activities designed to show students what they can do
- Expressing your ideas: focus on ways of talking about ideas and presenting arguments
- Vocabulary building: introduction, reinforcement, revision and recycling a wide range of lexical items suited to students of different proficiency levels
- Grammatical range and accuracy: focus on ways of helping students show the range of structures they are familiar with and how well they can use them

Practise and Pass

for Cambridge English Qualifications

By Megan Roderick & Bernardo Morales

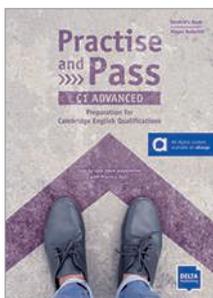

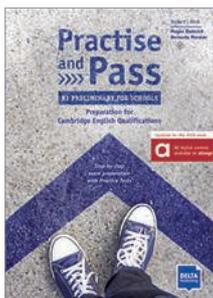

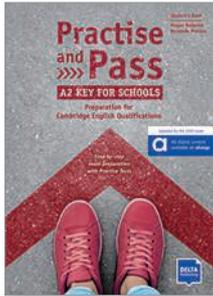

Cambridge English Qualifications > A2 Key; B1 Preliminary; B2 First; C1 Advanced

Practise and Pass is a series of exam preparation books for school-age students who are preparing for the Cambridge English qualifications: A2 Key, B1 Preliminary and B2 First for Schools and C1 Advanced.

Practise and Pass is for students who need to prepare and practise for the Cambridge English for Schools examinations over a relatively short period of time or alongside another coursebook. Each book provides a minimum of 40 hours of material. It is suitable both for classroom preparation and independent learning.

Practise and Pass focuses on exam preparation in an interesting and stimulating way, providing students with the necessary exam skills, together with a wide-ranging revision of the essential topic-based vocabulary and grammatical structures required at this level.

Key features:

- Based on the current Cambridge English Qualifications specifications
- Focuses on a three-step programme: Prepare, Practise and Pass
- In the Prepare section commonly tested grammatical and lexical structures are highlighted and practised through a range of tasks and exercises
- In the Practise section, students develop an understanding of what each exam question requires through a variety of confidence-building practice materials
- In the Pass section, the language and skills that students have acquired in the previous sections are tested in an exam-style task
- Finishes with a complete Practice Test covering all parts of the exam

Heads up

2nd edition – Spoken English for business

By Mark Tulip with Louise Green and Richard Nicholas

Business ▶ CEFR B1 – B2 ▶ 2 levels

Heads up Second edition is a practical student-based business speaking course devised to meet the needs of in-work students and has been fully updated with new features. Heads up is perfect for short business English courses and addresses the overriding need in-work students have to become operational in spoken English as quickly and efficiently as possible.

Heads up addresses the lack of time these learners often have and the need for streamlined materials targeting their needs. Heads up helps students to successfully achieve speaking skills by providing careful preparation, personalised tasks, and consistent pronunciation practice.

Heads up gets right to the heart of the students' needs and wishes. The topics encourage students to talk about their own work situations and personalised activities provide motivation.

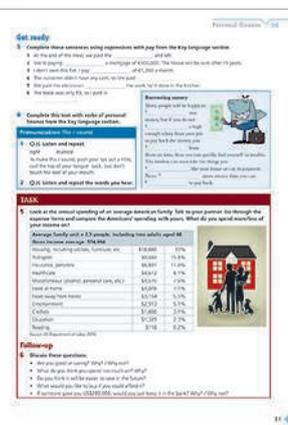

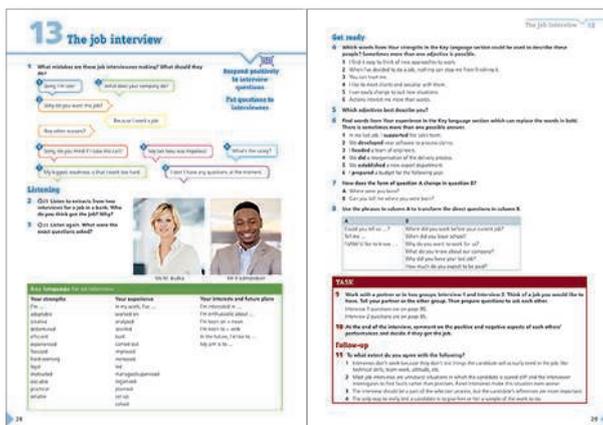

New additional downloadable material allows full-time students without work experience to complete an alternate version of the end Task/Follow-up.

Key features:

- Extensive listening and speaking practice with personalised tasks
- Regular pronunciation work, with attention to elision, stress and intonation
- Suitable for class use and some guided self-study
- All audios on allango plus key language on flash cards
- Digital Editions on allango

International Management English Series

Managing Change by Fiona Mauchline • Working Virtually by Jackie Black, Jon Dyson •

Leading People by Steve Flinders • Managing Projects by Bob Dignen

Business ▶ CEFR B2 – C1 ▶ 1 level

A ground-breaking series developed by York Associates, who have been preparing professionals for international work for over 30 years.

Research shows that, in order to operate and communicate successfully in the ever more connected world of international business, managers need a blend of the following skills to be effective communicators:

- Relevant language skills
- People management skills
- Communicative ability
- Intercultural competence

International Management English provides comprehensive training in all of the above areas alongside the language needed to carry them out successfully. International Management English consists of four titles covering key aspects of international business operations. Each book in the series is made up of eight units, with every unit offering four distinct sections:

- Discussion and listening: Engaging and relevant content in areas of international management and teamwork
- Communication skills: In addition to the familiar topics of meetings, presentations and negotiations, content and practice are also provided in conflict management, team building and giving and receiving feedback
- Professional skills: Authentic texts from management writers and thinkers provide the starting point for reflection and discussion among learners
- Intercultural competence: A focus on raising cultural awareness followed by an illustrative case study

Trainer's notes to accompany each title are available to download from www.deltapublishing.co.uk

In addition, each title in the International Management English Series provides:

- A learning diary
- A needs analysis
- Unit-by-unit glossaries of key words and phrases
- Tips for more effective language learning and how to improve performance at work
- The opportunity to develop a personal action plan
- All audios on allango

DELTA Business Communication Skills

By Susan Lowe, Louise Pile, David King

Pre-Intermediate – Upper Intermediate ▶ CEFR B1 – B2 ▶ 8 titles

The DELTA Business Communication Skills series is designed to help learners at Pre-intermediate and Intermediate levels master the key communication skills required in international business English today. Each book in the series is designed for classroom use, but is also suitable for self-study.

There are eight titles in the series: Meetings, Presenting, Negotiating, Telephoning, Emailing, Socialising, Using Social Media and Business English Language Practice.

Business English Language Practice aims to help learners of business English develop the grammar and vocabulary needed to participate in business effectively.

The book can be used to support the rest of the DELTA Business Communication Skills series, building on topics covered there, or can be used independently for grammar and vocabulary practice.

Each book in the DELTA Business Communications Skills series contains:

- A needs analysis to help learners think about their strengths and weaknesses in English and to identify and prioritise their learning needs
- A learning journal to help students monitor their learning during the course
- A review to help consolidate the language work students have done in each unit
- A reference section listing the vocabulary and useful phrases covered in each unit
- A resources section containing a range of photocopiable material
- An answer key, including suggested answers, and scripts
- All audios on allango

Teacher Resources

Break Out!

Escape games for the English classroom

Teacher Resources ▶ CEFR A1 – B2 ▶ 3 levels

This collection of escape games is designed to get your secondary students communicating, collaborating and problem-solving. In order to escape each situation, they need to use their language, skills and share their knowledge and ideas. All the escape games have a clear language and thematic focus.

All our escape games are:

- easy to use
The photocopiable escape games are designed to be set up easily, and the instructions are clear and concise.
- entertaining
Each game explores a range of topics commonly found in the coursebook and includes language that can be expected at this level. Set in a range of contexts, students can learn about English-speaking countries and cultures.
- engaging
Your students may become so involved in working together to solve the puzzles that they fail to notice that they are using the target language.

Why use escape games in the English classroom?

- to break out of the everyday classroom routine
- to apply general and language knowledge
- to promote the 4 Cs: communication, collaboration, creativity, critical thinking
- to boost self-confidence and strengthen relationships

Teaching Teens

By Christian Straukamp

Teens > CEFR A1 – B2

Ask yourself

- Are your students exceptionally strong at speaking?
- Does each of your students speak more than 15 minutes of English during class?
- Do you reject frontal teaching?

If your answer is “yes” to any of these questions, please stop reading and don’t buy the book!

If none of the points above apply, you will find a multitude of methods and activities that can significantly improve the speaking competence of your students at the performative level. All methods and activities follow the simple principle “Language learning is language use!” and foster speaking proficiency in its four dimensions: fluency, accuracy, complexity and appropriacy.

Textploitation

By David Byrne and Mark Heffernan

General > CEFR A2 – C1

Photocopiable activities to get the most out of texts

Textploitation is divided up into four different text types (articles, stories, conversations, tiny texts) and each section has a lesson from elementary to advanced. Each lesson focuses not just on one grammar point or piece of vocabulary but also looks at developing skills and training learners to be more autonomous. This is achieved through guided discovery and awareness raising activities, using the texts as a source.

Each lesson comes with a teaching tip and practical procedures designed to support teachers as they teach.

Digital reading

Technology is changing the way we, and our students, read – and digital reading is therefore increasingly important. Print books are wonderful, smell fantastic, and look great on a shelf, but digital editions equally come with their own set of advantages.

That's why we're not getting rid of print anytime soon, but we're also giving you and your students digital options. So, whatever your preference, the choice is yours!

For students and teachers

More advantages

Convenience and flexibility	No heavy backpacks, available on any device of your choice, can be accessed anywhere, wherever you want.
Support in the multilingual classroom	Allango buddy: students can translate words into their own language.
Easy to teach with	Projectable, presentation tools, notes, interactive features, save different versions ...
Accessible	allango and our titles include inclusive features to enhance the learning experience for neurodiverse learners.
Digital literacy	Key to many curricula, using digital editions effectively, will help develop your students' digital literacy skills and responsible use.
Differentiation	Students can read and listen at different speeds. Assign different texts to different people. Provide scaffolding.
Sustainability	There is no need to print and photocopy. Saving paper promotes environmental responsibility.
Learner autonomy	Students can explore the content at their own pace, and focus on the words and tasks that most interest them.

DELTA Secondary Readers

Four good reasons to choose DELTA Readers:

- monolingual: from help with understanding vocabulary to reflection questions and supplementary material, DELTA readers are entirely in English to support language acquisition.
- multi-faceted: DELTA readers are available in nine categories – Adventure, Crime and Thriller, Culture and Diversity, Escape Adventures, History, Me and My World, Primary, School Life, Sustainability and Team Readers: from historical events and people to very topical issues, there is something for all readers.
- Self-study: grammar, vocabulary, reading comprehension, reflection and research: each DELTA Reader offers additional materials and suggested answers. This makes them perfect for self-learning and differentiation.
- Illustrated: appealing illustrations enrich the stories and support comprehension.

DELTA Escape Adventures

Read - think - escape!

The DELTA Escape Adventures is a unique series of readers which combines reading with the challenge of solving enigmas. This collaborative reading experience offers students the opportunity to read, think, and share their ideas so that they can, together, escape.

The goal? To read the book and use the information in the text, the audio clues, the fact files, and the illustrations to solve all the enigmas.

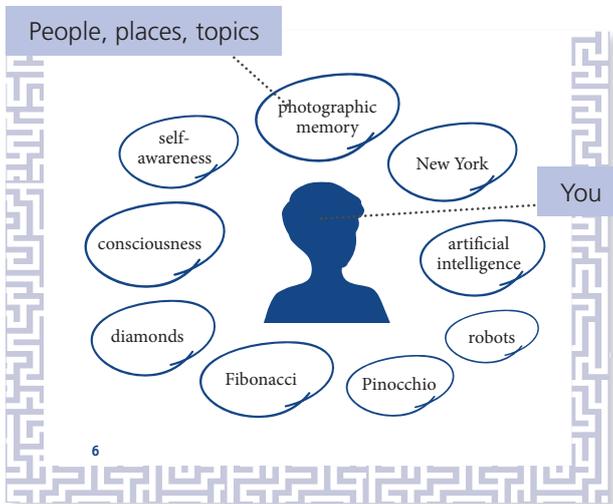

the need to read	progress through task achievement	problem-solving skills development
inclusive approach	CLIL content	21st century skills focus

In every DELTA Escape Adventure you find yourself in a situation which you need to escape from. And in order to escape, you need to read each chapter, understand the situation, and solve the problems you encounter along the way. You may need to think hard to solve the problems, but there are clues at hand to help ...

The books are primarily intended for students aged 11-15 and cover a wide range of CLIL topics.

Learners can read them for self-learning and they can be used in class as well. Detailed teacher's notes are available on allango.

About this book

This is you. You're now the main character in this book. You'll live in its pages until you manage to escape from them ... How? By solving the enigmas at the end of each chapter, which will give you the number of the first page of the next chapter you need to read.

Eventually, everything will make sense and you'll escape this book, having relived the adventure you had one day in New York when you were asked to solve eight enigmas to win a place on a top-secret robotics and artificial intelligence project, in return for 1,000,000 dollars.

Along the way, you'll visit some of the most famous places in New York, including a theatre, a peaceful community garden, an exclusive shop, two amazing museums, a world-famous hotel and an exciting square.

Finding your way out of an Escape Book in English is a real achievement! So, when you do get out, make sure you celebrate the fact (before you choose another title from the DELTA Escape Adventure series, of course)! Good luck! You'll need it!

So, just how do you escape?

The Irish Portal

You are staying with your great uncle when you find a strange old map. Watching the sunrise at an old portal tomb one morning, you throw a stone and make a wish. Instantly, you are transported into the mythological Otherworld. And if you want to escape, you need to find the symbols from the map. Look around you for the clues, and you'll soon escape...

DELTA Team Readers

Social reading for mixed ability groups!

DELTA Team Readers are the first series developed especially for heterogeneous groups. The books aim to engage all students – strong or more reluctant readers alike – with fun stories told by narrators who meet the students' individual proficiency level.

How does it work?

Each story is told from three perspectives – there are always three protagonists in the focus of the story. Each reader chooses the narrator they want to follow. Differentiation is achieved in a subtle and natural way through choice of vocabulary, level of idiomatic language, and the length and complexity of texts – to reflect the language level of the protagonists and the readers who follow their voice in the dedicated chapters. With this graded yet integrated reading experience all students are enabled to fully participate in the reading experience and contribute to discussions around the story.

Books aren't your thing? Don't worry: Sammy and I will help you sniff your way through this adventure.

Alicia & Sammy

You do like a good book once in a while? And spooky old houses don't creep you out? Then follow me ...

Ella

So you're a bookworm? Then I'm your man! Let's solve the riddles together and find this treasure!

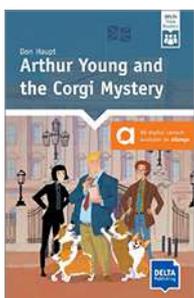

Rohan

The Treasure of Tea Towers

Cleaning the attic is pretty boring, but when Rohan finds a letter that hints at a secret treasure things start to get exciting. Suddenly Ella, Rohan and Alicia with her little dog Sammy find themselves caught up in the middle of a thrilling adventure involving riddles, keys and an empty old house. But is the house really empty? Who else is looking for the treasure? Are the three kids in danger? Join Ella, Rohan and Alicia and solve all the riddles, find the keys and find out where the treasure is hidden!

50 Ways to Include

By Rachael Harris, Claire Hart, Anna Hasper

Making all learners matter

- Learners with Dyslexia
- Learners with ADHD
- Learners on the Autism Spectrum
- Learners affected by Trauma

These titles will help you find your way to including all learners in your class by:

- offering quick solutions to the challenge of including all learners
- suggesting specific ways to include and support all learners as you move through the stages of teaching, from identifying students' needs through to assessment
- providing opportunities for reflection and action planning

Learners with Autism Spectrum	9783125018235		NP10050182300
Learners with Trauma	9783125018188		NP10050181800

The aim of our newest Teacher Development series, 50 Ways to Include, is quite simply to make all learners feel welcome in the ELT classroom.

Inspiring ideas

The 50 Ways to Include series sets out to inspire teachers with immediate tips on how to include learners with a specific need whilst teaching the whole class.

This new series does not aim to provide detailed background on the specific need or how to assess this need, but rather provides teachers with practical ideas for including the learner and making them feel at ease at each stage of the learning process. The focus is on inspiring ideas to help the learners feel acknowledged and included.

Each of the 50 ways:

- is based on real problems encountered by learners and teachers.
- is presented briefly with a short explanation. A further reading list is available for those looking for more background.

Each book is structured like this:

Part	Ways to...
1	Ways to identify students' needs
2	Ways to set up the classroom
3	Ways to select equipment
4	Ways to prepare materials
5	Ways to approach the lesson
6	Ways to realise self-esteem
7	Ways to assess

The Time to act section encourages you to think about the points raised and how you can apply them to the classes you are currently teaching.

Time to act

Create a worksheet template which takes these points into account.

Try different ones and discuss with ALL your students which ones they like best and why.

And the Beyond the book section at the end will give you further insight into how you can learn more if you are interested in the topic.

Activities for a Greener Mindset

By Harry Waters

Integrating sustainable learning in the ELT classroom

Activities for a Greener Mindset is for any language teacher (not just English) – both experienced and entry-level – interested in learning more about how to develop a greener mindset in their classroom. The book helps teachers integrate greener activities successfully in the classroom throughout the year, and at the same time, make climate-related actions clear and accessible to all learners

Activities for a Greener Mindset provides

- teachers with activities to use in class that will promote sustainability.
- teachers with clear step-by-step guidance on how to move forward and not simply treat the climate crisis as a one-off lesson.
- teachers with relevant background information.
- photocopiable / projectable / downloadable worksheets for many of the activities.

Activities for Social-Emotional Learning

By Luis Javier Pentón Herrera and Anna Hasper

Developing social-emotional competences in the ELT classroom

The social-emotional well-being of both the teacher and students affects the teaching and learning experience in the classroom. This book is specifically aimed at those teachers who care both about their learners and their own well-being. The authors aim to help teachers gain a deeper understanding of what SEL actually entails, why it is important, how they can develop their own social-emotional skills and then guide their learners in the English language classroom to further develop their social-emotional skills.

Activities for Social-Emotional Learning provides:

- insight into the five SEL concepts from CASEL's framework (self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, relationship skills, responsible decision-making)
- activities for each of these SEL concepts
- a section devoted specifically to SEL and the teacher
- practical strategies, tips and activities for developing and integrating the five specific SEL areas with these two target groups in mind: Young Learners / Primary, Teens / Secondary & Adults
- photocopiable / projectable worksheets for many of the activities

Activities for Developing Learning Strategies

By Rachael Harris

Establishing learning techniques in the ELT classroom

Activities for Developing Learning Strategies sets out to equip language teachers with tools and strategies to help all their students become successful language learners.

Why is it that some students have no problem learning that list of vocabulary for the test? Why, when you have covered a grammar point several times, can some students still not apply the rules? What makes one student succeed where others do not? What role do learning strategies play in a student's ability to assimilate a given input? By raising our students' awareness of how learning strategies can help them, we give them the skills not just to attain their immediate goals, but also to know how to prepare for and work towards future goals.

Activities for Developing Learning Strategies:

- explains the theory and importance of developing explicit learning strategies and their role in the learning process and learner motivation
- offers micro-strategies to help teachers integrate learning strategies into both their planning and delivery
- provides practical tools along with over 30 activities for developing learning strategies

Activities for Task-Based Learning

By Neil Anderson and Neil McCutcheon

Integrating a fluency first approach into the ELT classroom

Activities for Task-Based Learning provides teachers with a balance of theoretical insights and engaging tasks that can be used immediately. The book helps teachers ensure that meaningful communication takes priority over focusing on pre-selected language forms.

Activities for Task-Based Learning:

- is dedicated to tasks created especially with TBL in mind
- includes a variety of text reconstruction activities
- offers strategies for helping capture and exploit emergent language

Additional features and resources include:

- photocopiable worksheets accompanying most tasks
- variation, extension, task repetition suggestions
- authentic recordings
- language feedback options and follow-up suggestions

Activities for Inclusive Language Teaching

By Anne Margaret Smith

Valuing diversity in the ELT classroom

Activities for Inclusive Language Teaching is a collection of micro-strategies and activities designed to encourage teachers to embrace the diversity found in any language classroom, and harness it to motivate and inspire learners.

- Support for teachers as they raise awareness of barriers and exclusion
- Ideas for working towards greater cohesion in the group and a more collaborative learning environment
- Provides a holistic approach to embracing diversity in the language teaching classroom
- Recognises that people can't be put into one box and that identities are complex and individual
- Combination of practical material and methodology training

Activities for Inclusive Language Teaching	9783125017399	NP10050173900

Activities for Alternative Assessment

By Leo Selivan

Monitoring learning accomplishments in the ELT classroom

Activities for Alternative Assessment is a theoretical overview of what alternative assessment is, key characteristics, student and teacher roles, and implementation. It offers a wide range of alternative assessment tasks, techniques and activities for teachers to use in class as well as assessment activities to help teachers move away from simply teaching to the test.

There are opportunities for teachers to develop a learner-centred classroom through collaborative learning techniques. There are also suggestions for checklists and rubrics and ideas on how alternative assessment can be embedded into weekly, daily or virtually every classroom activity.

- Full of activities that show how assessment is not simply an end goal but also a learning tool
- Packed with tools to help teachers gauge learning in real-time, monitor students' progress and adjust the next instructional steps
- Includes meaningful real-world tasks
- Good balance of theory, tools and micro-strategies, practical as well as easy to integrate activities

Activities for Mediation

By Riccardo Chiappini and Ethan Mansur

Building bridges in the ELT classroom

Activities for Mediation provides language teachers with solid grounding in the theory of mediation, as defined in the latest update to the CEFR, as well as a wide variety of mediation tasks with clear aims and staging. This book aims to show not only why mediation is an important element in any 21st century language classroom, but how to actually integrate it in your teaching immediately. With this in mind, the book includes ideas for developing mediation strategies, how to create your own mediation activities, and how to assess mediation.

Activities for Mediation

- provides a thorough and clear overview of what mediation is and why it is so important
- covers all three types of mediation: Mediating a text, Mediating concepts and Mediating communication
- offers practical ideas to develop mediation strategies and associated competences
- includes photocopiable worksheets, tips for differentiation, variation and extension, as well as ideas on how to adapt the activities for online and hybrid classrooms
- suggests ideas for feedback, including self-evaluation and peer feedback activities

Learning to Teach...

This series sets out primarily to help new teachers understand what they have to teach and provide a bank of ideas and contexts for them to use in the classroom immediately.

Trinity CertTESOL Companion

By Jason Anderson

Trinity CertTESOL Companion is the ideal companion for any trainee English language teacher preparing for the Trinity CertTESOL course. It can be used both as pre-course preparation and as a supplement to the training on the course. It sets trainee teachers firmly on the path to becoming capable and independent English language teachers.

The book consists of five core units which mirror the five units of the CertTESOL syllabus together with three supplementary units to assist trainees before, during and after the course.

- Learning opportunities provided at the beginning of the unit
- A review activity at the end of the unit to enable self-evaluation of the learning opportunities;
- 'Pause for Thought' activities at several stages within each unit to help trainees reflect on what they are reading in order to consolidate learning.

Other features include:

- an extensive reference unit with information on CertTESOL pass criteria, English language exams and key aspects of grammar
- an overview of EFL methodologies and theory; help with lesson planning (including model plan) and structuring assignments
- a full glossary of educational/ELT terminology and an index

Learning to Teach Grammar

By Simon Haines

Learning to Teach Grammar is written with newly qualified teachers in mind. Native speakers with a limited awareness of the structure of their own language and any teacher looking for inspiration for teaching grammar will also find this book invaluable.

The book addresses the same key questions for all the key grammatical structures in the ELT classroom:

- How to recognise it
- How to use it
- When to use it
- How to teach it

The answers to these questions provide you with a wide range of practical matters, tips on what to watch out for and suggestions for various classroom scenarios as well as in-depth lesson plans.

Copy masters with answer key and a glossary give you the confidence you need to enjoy teaching grammar.

Learning to Teach the Language of Communication

By Simon Haines

There is a huge variety of ways of communicating information, and the way we choose depends on the situation we are in and who we are talking to. Learning to Teach the Language of Communication offers teachers a clear, structured approach to teaching the not so clear and structured reality of communicative language. Teachers are asked to think not only about what language they choose to teach and why, but how useful the chosen language is, how frequently it occurs in reality, and how appropriate it is to a given situation.

Each of the ten units include language in context, notes on situations it can be used in, relations between speakers, as well as notes related to grammar. This book provides meaningful classroom practice activities for students at three levels.

Numerous suggestions for classroom activities, sample lesson plans and adaptable photocopiable worksheets are provided. There is also a glossary to help you with any new terms.

DELTA Teacher Development Series

A pioneering, multi-award-winning series of books for English Language Teachers with professional development in mind, blending theory, practice and development.

The DELTA Teacher Development Series features some of the best and most expert authors in ELT, writing about fundamental areas of professional interest to teachers today. Each title in the series has three distinctive parts – A, B and C, which focus in turn on theory, practice and development:

- A: What do you need to know? What have others in the profession said or written? What is the latest information? How are things changing?
- B: What can you do? What practical activities can you carry out? How can you and your students get the most out of your teaching? How can you help yourself to help them better?
- C: How can you develop from here? What is the next step? How can you go further as a teacher in your own professional development?

AI Literacy in the Language Classroom

By Zsófia Menyei and Joanna Szoke

Facilitating critical, ethical and responsible use

AI Literacy in the Language Classroom sets out to help secondary school teachers of English, primarily EFL/ESL, get to grips with AI technologies, and offer practical ideas on integrating learners' AI literacy development in their lessons. The book provides a bank of fun, meaningful activities designed to supplement courses with AI. Many of the activities are easily adapted to different contexts, levels, language points, and even languages. The aim of this book is to give teachers the confidence and skills to integrate AI successfully and train students in the critical, ethical and responsible use of AI.

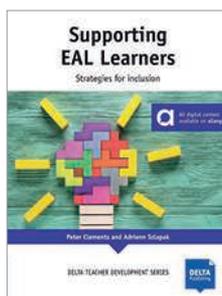

This title equips teachers with:

- guidance in incorporating AI successfully in their teaching
- relevant background information in terms of AI literacy skills development
- activities to use in class that will help students develop their AI literary skills
- photocopyable / projectable / downloadable worksheets for many of the activities

Supporting EAL Learners

By Peter Clements and Adrienn Szlapak

Supporting EAL learners is a comprehensive guide to language teaching for upper-primary and secondary teachers with learners in their class who speak a home language other than English. English as an Additional Language (EAL) learners face the dual task of learning both English and subject content through English. To include these learners, this double load needs to be factored into the teaching and learning process. Packed with useful tips and techniques for every stage of the EAL learning journey, teachers in all kinds of contexts will benefit from this book.

Starting out with defining EAL, describing different types of EAL provision, and summarising key concepts in EAL related to inclusive pedagogy and Second Language Acquisition, the book then includes seven chapters of techniques to support EAL learners.

English for a Critical Mind

By Alessia Cogo, Graham Crookes, Sávio Siqueira

Language Pedagogy for Social Justice

English for a Critical Mind outlines clearly what language teaching for social justice entails. It is intended for teachers who want to develop their language teaching practices in democratic, participatory, and social justice oriented directions in diverse instructional contexts and offers a good balance of theory and practice. There is an interesting collection of activities and sample material which teachers can use to foster critical thinking and develop issues that are part of their students' everyday life. This book intends to encourage teachers at different levels in their professional development to move beyond the comfort zone of "safe" traditional materials, so that they can help learners to use language and become more critically inquisitive.

This title builds on the perspective argued in Teaching English as a Lingua Franca.

Overt Teaching

By David Byrne and Mark Heffernan

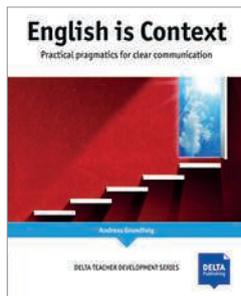

Successful learning depends on students being actively involved in the learning process. Not only do they need to be aware of what they are learning and why, but their involvement in the discussion of their own success is critical. The authors make the case for Overt Teaching before laying out practical steps and activities that will gradually take teachers from being covert to overt. You will not only learn to write effective aims and objectives, but also to use them as a discussion point.

English is Context

By Andreas Grundtvig

In an eye-opening workshop on the idea of “how utterances have meaning in situations”, the author found the key to the one question that concerned him most as a teacher: how could he help his students when they had learnt the words, the meaning and place in a sentence, but didn’t know how these words behaved in context. And this is how English is Context started.
